THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

John P. St. John, ex-governor of Kansas, said in a speech in a quad-rangular debate recently held at Salina, Kansas.

"Now let us turn to the People's party. It is unlike the two old parties, for it is not made up entirely of statesmen; it has a few common mortals in its ranks. It has been vilified and kicked and cuffed from one end of the land to the other. I confess that I sympathize with it, for I know what it is to be persecuted for opinion's sake.

"The People's party is made up principally of men who only a few years ago were Republicans or Democrats. They were counted as good citizens then; but strange as it may seem, it is nevertheless true, that just as soon as they joined this new movement they were branded as howling cranks, demagogues, fanatics, rattle brained fools, calamity howlers and sordid lappers."

St. John is a level headed man. He is a man who is not afraid to stand by his convictions of right and duty, and can sympathize with the People's party—"persecuted for opinion's sake."

He sees that the People's party "is not made up entirely of statesmen," but that "it has a few common mortals in its ranks." What a blessing to the party that this is the truth! The present day statesmen of the old parties are not made up of the Jefferson, Lincoln, Greely, Clay and Webster type. These men and many others were statesmen indeed; they were honest men and patriots—principle, honesty, truth and moral integrity marked their political actions as well as their social and business conduct. They served for the country's good. But the public conduct of our present day representatives in the old parties, state and national, is a libel on statesmanship; they are simply truckling politicians, a disgrace to the country and nineteenth century civilization. They seek office for its spoils; and no means are considered too dishonorable to secure these much coveted positions. What do they do when the people elect them? Whose interest do they serve? The financial and industrial condition of the country at this hour, when hundreds of thousands of honest workingmen are out of employment and almost starving, when the manipulators of Wall street are daily adding fabulous amounts to their ill gotten gains, when the New York banks have more than one hundred millions of idle capital over and above the 25 per cent reserve required, when mines are closed, mills idle and factories shut down, is a sufficient answer to these questions. There are two old parties, but they have one boss—the gold interest, with branch offices at Lombard and Wall street.

The "common mortals" of the People's party had the courage to say in their platform: "Corruption dominates the ballot box, the legislature, the congress, and touches even the ermine of the bench." They did not forfeit their claim to be "counted as good citizens" when they left old party corruption for the clean, honest principles of the party they are making. No man who fell into the ranks with these "common mortals" need feel ashamed of his company. What the future of the People's party will be depends entirely upon its faithfulness to the principles it has espoused. Let it depart from the path of probity which it has marked out, betray the people's interest, or ally itself with trusts, combines, corporations or what else as against the people's interest and it is sharpening a sword to cut off its own head. But let its leaders and representatives be true to the people, and no reorganization of Republican and Democratic clubs can materially effect it; the votes of the people will be given to it, and in the respect and admiration of the people will its glory and strength be continually reflected.

The Midwinter Fair will probably continue open till October 1st. After June 30th the admission will be 25 cents.

Clever Billy Plimmer.

Three short rounds were boxed by Billy Plimmer and Johnny Van Heest at the Empire Theater, Chicago, last Tuesday night. Plimmer fairly smothered the Chicagoan, showing far better form than in the bouts with his sparring partner, Joe McGrath. Van Heest was not in the game at any time, and succeeded in landing squarely but once. The little Englishman was as lively as a cricket, and, although the rounds were scarcely over a minute's duration, Van Heest was completely tired out at the finish.

A Righteous Kick.

James Roberts, the man arrested in Reno on Saturday night as the lone bandit who confiscated Paymaster Mills' tin box, complains that he was treated like a felon by the local officers who arrested him and says they refused to allow him to prove his identity by telegraphing to responsible parties at Carson who would vouch that he was nowhere near the express train on the night of the robbery. There should surely be some process of law for innocent persons to recover damages when arrested merely on suspicion.—Enterprise

Human Freight.

Atchison, Kas., Feb. 14.—The police yesterday took Mrs. F. out of a car of household goods billed to Omaha, in which she had been beating her way from Dakota, Ill. She had $25, and had been put in the car by her husband, who did not want to pay car fare. She had been in the car three days and was nearly frozen.
